

Dr. Atul Mahajan M.B.B.S.; M.D. Orthopedics; M.R.C.S. (Edinburgh)

Dr. Atul Mahajan obtained his medical degree from Kasturba Medical College, Manipal, Karnataka in 2008 and completed his Post-Graduation Residency in Orthopedics from Kasturba Medical College, Manipal, Karnataka in 2012 where he trained under some of the globally renowned surgeons. He was awarded University Gold Medal for the Best Outgoing Student in the field of Orthopedics for the year 2012.

From 2012-2015, Dr. Mahajan worked as a Senior Resident at Safdarjung Hospital, New Delhi, India which is one of the largest Super speciality Government Hospital of India. Dr. Mahajan then worked as an Assistant professor at Lady Hardinge Medical College & RML Hospital, New Delhi, India which is among the top medical institutions of India.

He has undergone specialized training in his area of expertise from several institutes abroad. He did his Fellowship in Joint Reconstruction at Korea University Anam Hospital, Seoul, Korea. He followed it with the Joint Reconstruction fellowship at Chang Gung Hospital, Kaohsiung, Taiwan and Arthroscopy Fellowship in Seoul, Korea.

Known for his sound clinical judgment and fine surgical skills, Dr. Mahajan has many International and National memberships of reputed institutions and Societies to his credit. He has presented numerous National and International level papers and posters in the field of Orthopaedics.

With his keen interest in this expanding field of Sports Injuries, Arthroscopic surgery and joint replacement surgery, he constantly strives to enhance applied knowledge and skill-set for professional and personal growth. His practicing philosophy is to achieve professional goals with the priority of maintaining high quality patient care.